

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am equally amazed at the job description for Senior Python Engineer that you recently advertised on Google. I am a student at Chuka University and will soon graduate with a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science, which I will complement with the skills I developed during the summer internship, mastering both the Python programming language and web development skills.

In my learning years, I have developed a passion and ability to develop effective and interactive web applications. Some recent works I completed are designing a student portal using HTML, Flask, and SQLite where I add and delete data, user login & registration, generating PDF reports, etc. I also provided a web application for the users to upload, modify, and delete PDF books, including options such as uploading front pictures for a better customer interface. However, these projects did not only add to my professionally relevant technical knowledge but also developed my logical reasoning abilities along with project handling skills.

Besides academics, I was privileged to undertake an attachment with Trifix Solutions which is a networking company that deals in the installation of Wi-Fi in organizations institutions, and homes. That further helped to make me more knowledgeable on the real IT structures and client-oriented service provision.

I believe what makes me stand out is versatility and particularly getting to work with the product that I am deeply passionate about. It concerns creating settings that remain within a user's session; implementing various features associated with location; or developing individual user profiles for web applications, etc. This is enhanced more by my use of tools such as PyCharm that enable me fasten my development efforts more so deliver quality work.

Besides computer science, my swimming, chess, dancing, and coding show that I live a toned-down and disciplined life.

However, I humbly wish to apply for this position for your consideration. I am eager to make a signification to the vision of Kwanza Tukule organization. I would be so happy to explain myself in detail during the interview about my application.

Yours sincerely,

Keith Richard
